1. Purpose

This directive governs access to and use of the company's internal canteen. It supports affordable meals for employees, safe dietary choices, inclusive shift coverage, and reduced packaging and food waste.

2. Scope

This directive applies to employees, interns, on-site contractors, and authorized visitors using a Northstar Solutions canteen. It covers meal eligibility, ordering, payment, conduct, allergens, takeaway meals, and sustainability requirements.

3. Opening hours and service

On normal working days, the canteen provides:

- breakfast from 07:30 to 10:00;
- lunch from 11:00 to 14:30; and
- refrigerated late-shift meals from 14:30 to 20:00.

At lunch, the standard service includes at least two hot main meals, with one vegetarian and one plant-based choice, plus soup and salad. Workplace Services may adjust hours for site closures, maintenance, or exceptional occupancy and will announce planned changes in advance.

4. Eligibility and subsidy

Employees and interns receive a 65 percent company subsidy, up to EUR 7.50 per scheduled working day, toward one qualifying meal. A qualifying meal is a breakfast set, standard lunch, or late-shift meal.

The subsidy:

- may be used on an on-site working day, including an approved partial remote working day;
- cannot be transferred, combined across days, or exchanged for cash; and
- excludes alcohol, confectionery, premium bottled drinks, and retail goods.

On-site contractors pay the full listed price unless their service agreement provides a meal benefit. Authorized visitors pay the full price.

5. Ordering and payment

Employees may buy available meals at the counter or preorder lunch through the canteen app before 10:00. A preorder is held until 13:30.

An employee who repeatedly fails to collect reserved meals may lose preorder access for 30 days after two reminders. A charge may be applied only when the app clearly disclosed the charge before confirmation.

The employee portion may be paid by debit card, mobile wallet, or payroll deduction where available. Payment errors must be raised within ten working days.

6. Menu, nutrition, and allergens

Menus and ingredient information are published in the canteen app and at the service counter. The caterer identifies legally regulated allergens and labels vegetarian and plant-based meals. Nutritional information is provided where reliable recipe data is available.

Separate utensils and preparation procedures are used for designated allergen-controlled meals, but the shared kitchen cannot guarantee an allergen-free environment. An employee with a severe allergy should contact the canteen manager for a documented ingredient and cross-contact review before ordering.

Suspected incorrect allergen information must be reported immediately. The affected dish must be withdrawn until the canteen manager completes a check.

7. Takeaway meals and reusable containers

Meals may be taken away in:

- a company reusable container issued under the deposit scheme; or
- a clean personal container accepted by canteen staff as suitable for the selected food.

Single-use takeaway containers are available only when required for hygiene or business continuity and may carry a packaging charge. A subsidized takeaway meal is for the employee's own consumption and must not be resold.

Chilled and hot food must be stored and consumed according to the label. Northstar Solutions and the caterer are not responsible for unsafe storage or reheating after a meal leaves the controlled service area.

8. Food waste and sustainability

Users should preorder when possible and select a portion they expect to eat. Unopened packaged food must be returned to the designated collection point rather than left on tables.

Where food-safety rules permit, the caterer may discount surplus meals near the end of service or transfer them to an approved food-donation partner. Employees may not remove unoffered kitchen surplus.

All users must separate food waste, reusable items, and other waste using the labeled collection stations.

9. Shared-space conduct

Canteen users must:

- follow queue and food-safety instructions from canteen staff;
- return trays, dishes, cutlery, and reusable containers;
- leave tables reasonably clean;
- avoid speakerphone calls and disruptive audio;
- keep emergency routes and accessible seating clear; and
- treat staff and other users respectfully.

Seats must not be reserved for more than 10 minutes during peak service. Informal meetings are permitted outside the 11:45 to 13:30 peak period if they do not prevent diners from finding a seat.

10. Guests, events, and shift needs

Departments expecting more than five visitors must notify Workplace Services at least three working days in advance. Event catering must be ordered separately and is not eligible for the employee subsidy.

Managers of evening or weekend teams must inform Workplace Services of expected attendance by the weekly ordering deadline so an appropriate meal option can be arranged.

11. Feedback, complaints, and incidents

Users may submit menu suggestions and service complaints through the Workplace Services portal or canteen app. Suspected foodborne illness, foreign objects, unsafe temperatures, or incorrect allergen information must be reported immediately to the canteen manager and Workplace Services.

Workplace Services records and investigates food-safety complaints with the caterer and escalates reportable incidents to the appropriate authority.

12. Privacy

The badge system and canteen app record meal eligibility, subsidy value, payment status, and preorder collection. Individual meal choices are not provided to managers or used for employment decisions.

Transaction records are retained for 24 months for payroll, tax, fraud prevention, and audit purposes, unless local law requires a different period.

13. Misuse and exceptions

Badge sharing, subsidy fraud, abusive conduct, theft, resale of subsidized meals, or unauthorized entry into kitchen areas may result in loss of canteen access and disciplinary action. Exceptions require written approval from the Head of Workplace Services.
